COMMISSION

1949

CAMPAIGN, SIEGE, AND DEFENSE OF VICKSBURG, 1863. BATTLE OF CHAMPION'S HILL, MISSISSIPPI, MAY 16.

THE UNION ARMY, UNDER COMMAND OF MAJ. GEN. U. S. GRANT, WAS COMPOSED OF THE 13TH CORPS, BLAIR'S DIVISION OF THE 15TH CORPS, AND LOCAN'S AND CROCKER'S DIVISIONS OF THE 17TH CORPS. THE CONFEDERATE ARMY, UNDER COMMAND OF LIEUT. GEN. JOHN C. PEMBERTON, WAS COMPOSED OF STEVENSON'S, BOWEN'S, AND LORINC'S DIVISIONS, AND WIRT ADAMS' CAVALRY, REYNOLDS' BRIGADE OF STEVENSON'S DIVISION AND TWO UNION REGIMENTS WERE DETACHED AS TRAIN GUARDS. LOCAN'S AND HOVEY'S DIVISIONS WERE ON THE RIGHT, OSTERHAUS' AND CARR'S IN THE CENTER, A. J. SMITH'S AND BLAIR'S ON THE LEFT OF THE UNION LINE. LORINC'S DIVISION HELD THE RIGHT, BOWEN'S THE CENTER, AND STEVENSON'S THE LEFT OF THE CONFEDERATE LINE. THE BATTLE WAS OPENED ABOUT 10:30 OR 11 O'CLOCK A.M. BY THE ADVANCE OF LOCAN'S AND HOVEY'S DIVISIONS IN LINE OF BATTLE; HOVEY'S ATTACK BROKE THE CONFEDERATE LINE AT THE ANGLE, CAPTURED THE GUNS AT THAT POINT AND AT THE JUNCTION OF THE CLINTON AND MIDDLE RAYMOND ROADS, AND FORCED CUMMINGS' BRIGADE AND THE RIGHT OF LEE'S TO FORM NEW LINES—THE FORMER ON THE MIDDLE RAYMOND ROAD, THE LATTER ON A RIDGE BETWEEN THAT ROAD AND ITS FIRST POSITION. BOWEN'S DIVISION REINFORCED THE CONFEDERATE LEFT, FORMED LINE OF BATTLE UNDER FIRE ABOUT 1:30 P.M. DROVE BACK HOVEY'S DIVISION, RECOVERED THE GUNS AT THE JUNCTION OF THE TWO ROADS AND MOST OF THE GROUND LOST EARLIER IN THE DAY. BOOMER'S BRIGADE OF CROCKER'S DIVISION REINFORCED HOVEY'S AND BECAME ENGAGED ABOUT 2 P.M.; TWO REGIMENTS OF HOLMES' BRIGADE OF CROCKER'S DIVISION BECAME ENGAGED A LITTLE LATER AND BOWEN'S ADVANCE WAS CHECKED. ABOUT THE SAME TIME THE RIGHT AND CENTER OF LOCAN'S DIVISION REACHED THE MIDDLE RAYMOND ROAD AND CAPTURED THE GUNS ON THE LEFT OF THE CONFEDERATE LINE. ABOUT 3:30 P.M. THE UNION BATTERIES CONCENTRATED ON A COMMANDING RIDGE OPENED A HEAVY FIRE, THE UNION LINE ADVANCED, AND THE CONFEDERATE ARMY WAS DRIVEN FROM THE FIELD. STEVENSON'S AND BOWEN'S DIVISIONS CROSSED BAKER'S CREEK AND FELL BACK TOWARDS VICKSBURG; LORINC'S DIVISION ABANDONED ITS ARTILLERY AND MARCHED SOUTH-EASTWARD TO CRYSTAL SPRINGS. CASUALTIES: UNION, KILLED 410, WOUNDED 1844, MISSING 187, TOTAL 2441. THIRTY-EIGHT OFFICERS KILLED OR MORTALLY WOUNDED. CONFEDERATE, KILLED 380, WOUNDED 1018, MISSING 2453, TOTAL 3851. BRIG. GEN. LLOYD TILGHMAN AND THIRTY-TWO OTHER OFFICERS KILLED.

Map 9. Battle of Champion Hill. Hovey's and Logan's advance, and the defeat of Barton's and Cumming's brigades, 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., May 16, 1863. As soon as contact was established with the Union columns advancing via the Raymond and Middle roads, Gen. Pemberton posted his three divisions along the ridge commanding Jackson Creek. About 9 a.m. Pemberton learned from Gen. S. D. Lee (one of Stevenson's brigade commanders) that a strong Federal force was approaching along the Jackson road. To cope with this threat, Lee shifted his brigade to the left, moving to the crest of Champion Hill. Here he was reinforced by three of Cumming's regiments and parts of two batteries.

By 10:30 Gens. Hovey and Logan had deployed their divisions in the fields near the Champion house. Gen. McPherson gave the word and the two divisions advanced. Lee, seeing that Logan's right would outflank him, called for help. Barton's brigade was rushed cross-country from the Roberts house and formed on Lee's left.

As Bowen passed the Roberts house, he had Cockrell form his brigade to the left of the plantation (Ratliff) road; Green's brigade deployed on Cockrell's right. Storming forward, Bowen's troops overwhelmed Slack's brigade and recaptured Waddell's

A fresh Union division, Crocker's, now reached the field. Sanborn's brigade was rushed to Logan's assistance, while Boomer's brigade plugged the gap ripped in the Union line by the retreat of Hovey's troops. Sixteen guns were massed by Hovey, so they could enfilade Bowen's line of advance. Once again, the tide of battle turned, and Bowen's troops were compelled to give ground.

James M. was an original member of Co. B - Cobb's Legion along with James R Barrow - Possibly they were friends or at least they would have had to know each other quite well.

James M. possibly was wounded in the Battle of Chancellorsville (Salem Church, Va. fought May 2-4, 1863 - The Legion was heavily engaged here - (Stonewall Jackson was wounded May 3 & died May 10).

James M. had 4 brothers all who were members of Co. C - 56th Ga Vol. Inf. One died (Wm J. M.) in Nov 1862 - The other 3 were captured at Champion Hill, Miss on May 16, 1863 (only 2 days after death of James M.).

Only one brother, John F. survived the war, 4 did not.

Cobb's Legion, Georgia Volunteers, was organized in August, 1861, as the Georgia Legion, and consisted of an infantry battalion of seven companies and a cavalry battalion of four companies. By S. O. No. 87, A. & I. G. O., dated April 10, 1862, it was directed that the infantry battalion and the cavalry battalion be separated into distinct organizations and each raised to a regiment, which order does not appear to have been carried out, except that the number of cavalry companies was increased. By S. O. No. 161, A. & I. G. By JOHN DOWNING

Worley

This is an English place name acquired from once having lived in the parish of Warley Salop in Worcestershire. This parish went by the spelling Worley for almost 200 years (1400-1600) during the time surnames were becoming hereditary in England. The meaning is "clearing of, or by, the Worl." Worl was the name of a stream running through the parish.

No record of individuals could be found in the early records in any of the shires.

In Virginia, Elizabeth Worley was noted in Lancaster County in 1652. William Worleigh assigned (sold, traded?) 650 acres to John Banister in 1653. This land was situated on Mobjack Bay in Gloucester-Lancaster counties. Peter Worley (or Worsley) was noted in Old Rappahannock County in 1667. Mary Worley was noted in Kent County in 1672 and George Worley was noted there in 1691.

Columbus W. Worley.

Everybody here knew the frank, genial, and honest face of Captain Lum Worley. "None knew him but to love him." There was no trace of sham in his makeup. His life was an open book "known and read by all men," who were so fortunate as to share his acquaintance.

Captain Worley was born in Dahlonaga, Ga; was married to Miss Lizzie Barnes, in Carroll County in April, 1862.

He first enlisted as a private in Company H, First Georgia Infantry March 18th, 1861, for 12 months. He was one of the very first volunteers of the war.

When the 12 months expired he re-enlisted in the same company and regiment and was appointed adjutant of his regiment--a post of honor--and so acted until his company called him back, by voluntarily and unanimously electing him first lieutenant of the company.

When his captain retired from being severely wounded at New Hope he was promoted to the captaincy, which office he filled with marked distinction to the final surrender.

After the surrender he, with 100 others, undertook to go to the Confederate forces in the West, but never quite reached them.

Captain Worley took part in many memorable engagements, among which was Laurel Hill and Carver Ford, Cheat Mountain, Green Briar, Reidville, Cumberland Gap, Perryville, Ky., Franklin, Tenn., Lookout Mountain, Missionary Ridge, Vicksburg, New Hope, Atlanta, Resacca, and others.

He was wounded-- three ribs fractured --by a piece of bombshell, at the Battle of Atlanta, July 22nd, 1864; was also wounded by a minnie ball below the right knee in the leg.

He was a pensioner and was awarded the "Cross of Honor."

I gather these facts from his written statements furnished me previous to his death, and I knew the man and am satisfied of the truth of them. Under the head of "Special Remarks," Captain Worley says, "Well, there's so many just like my experience, that I don't know that it would do any good."

"After my captain was disabled, I was captain and it looked like they always detailed my company when they wanted a bad job done."

"I have often responded when they called for companies to volunteer to dislodge the enemy at some special point, and I am proud to say we generally succeeded, and that I always did my best."

Captain Worley, Surrounded by weeping friends and relatives, "crossed over the river to rest under the shade of the trees," June 29th, 1913. Peace to his ashes, honor to his name!

My Dear Mr. Jackson:-

Your telegram announcing the death of Capt. Morley was a very great shock and surprise to me, and I am deeply saddened by it. He was at all times a true and sincere friend and I loved him. Please convey my sympathy to each and all of his loved ones and assure them of my heartfelt loss in the passing away of my friend. I would have gone to Carrollton to the funeral, but am living in the country at present and received your telegram too late to get off. With best wishes, I am,

Sincerely your friend,
J. R. Terrell.

OBITUARY

To the Worshipful Master, Senior and Junior Warden of Carroll Lodge No. 69 F. & A. M.

We, your committee, appointed to draft resolutions on the death of Bro. C. W. Worley, beg to submit the following:

Brother Columbus W. Worley was born in Lumpkin county, Georgia, October 21, 1840, and was reared and educated at Dahlonega, Ga., worked in the office of his father, who was Clerk of the Superior Court, for several years. In 1860 he went to Colorado and engaged in the mining business. In 1861 he returned to Ga., and enlisted in the Confederate army as a private, and served in this capacity for a period of six months, the term of his enlistment, after which time his command was reorganized as regular soldiers, and he was elected Captain of Co. H, of the 1st Ga. Volunteers, in which capacity he served till the close of the war. The war being over he returned home, moved to Carroll county, Georgia, and was married to Miss Lizzie Barnes, with whom he lived happily till the time of her death, June 8th, 1902.

To this union came nine children, seven of whom survive him. He

A CARD OF THANKS

Not because it is customary, but because our hearts overflow with love and gratitude to the good people of Carrollton, we, the children of Mr. C. W. Worley, who passed away on Sunday June the 29th, at the West-Ga., wish to express our heart felt thanks to them for their great kindness to us during the sad death of our father. Nothing was forgotten that could have added in the least to comfort our sad hearts. We also thank the good people of Atlanta and Carrollton for the many beautiful floral tributes. And when these friends in turn shall in turn be called on to bow beneath the stroke of the chastening rod, may the same ever lasting arm that sustained us uphold them; and may kind friends minister to their needs as they did to ours in our earnest prayer.

women, etc. The ideas are presented in a logical manner, through the introduction of a dream of a care-free young spendthrift, who has been thoughtlessly wasting his time, despite the entreaties of a father, who was devoting his life to investigation and research for the benefit of humanity. "Why?" is a great picture—as a production, as a sermon, and also from the artistic and spectacular standpoint. One scene, the burning of New York City, is one of the greatest spectacles ever presented on the screen.

On Wednesday, "The Battle of San Juan Hill," a 101 Reel, 3 reel drama. The story is as follows: Inez, wife of Dr. Lopez, a Spanish loyalist, is imprisoned by Gen. Simmons, a soldier of fortune, that she may not reveal secrets she has learned from a wounded Cuban. Her husband has neglected her for Dolores, a sensuous Cuban woman. Gen. Simmons falls in love with Inez, his prisoner, but his advances are repelled until he is wounded while defending an old Cuban woman, and she then reveals her regard for him in the tender manner in which she binds up his wounds. She suddenly realizes her duty to her husband, however, and seeks to inform the Americans of her captivity. A detachment liberates her and seizes Simmons, but Inez saves his honor by declaring her self a willing prisoner. Dr. Lopez is made drunk by Simmons so as to learn the defense of San Juan Hill. The doctor kills Dolores' lover, is pursued to his home by Spaniards, who believe he has betrayed them into the hands of the enemy, and blow up the house. Meanwhile Simmons and his men scale San Juan Hill and plant the Stars and Stripes. He re-your husband's eyes; the diff consists in getting him to look occasionally.

Many a man who could not be ed an inch by a wise woman's ments or a good woman's tears be swayed like a feather by a olous woman's smiles.

dest son, J. A. Worley and his daughter, Mrs. Mattie Spruell, having died several years ago. Messrs. R. L. Worley, of Heard county, and W. E. Worley, of Atlanta and Mrs. Mollie Gower, Mrs. J. A. Sewell, Mrs. Cora Wright, Mrs. Harvey Jackson, Mrs. John Jackson and Mrs. John Cantrell survive.

Captain Worley, "Uncle Sam," as he was familiarly known; had made his home in Carrollton about 25 years, and was a consistent member of the Methodist church, an honorable and distinguished member of the Masonic fraternity and numbered his friends by his acquaintances.

He died at the Wesley Memorial Hospital, Atlanta, Georgia, on June the 29th., 1913, and the following day his remains were interred in the cemetery at Carrollton, Georgia, the funeral services being conducted by his pastor, Rev. R. A. Edmondson, after which he was laid to rest by the side of his wife by the Masonic Fraternity.

Your committee have thought proper to quote the following notes penned by Captain Worley himself recently in a pocket memorandum.

"October 1st-Sunday, 1911.

Feeling quite and lonely, among the sacred relics of the "dead," here sleeps my wife who lived and underwent the pleasures and hardships of a forty year's life, but I am trusting to meet her soon again in the sweet beyond."

The following relates to a trip to the Confederate Soldiers' Reunion told the latter part of May, 1913:

"1913, May 26th. Left Carrollton at 12:15 for Chattanooga, Tennessee for Soldiers' reunion, arrived at 7 p. m., went on car line to my Major-General Stewart's headquarters, got good sup-

In the death of Brother Worley, the Masonic fraternity has lost a noble exemplar of Masonry, the church a devoted and consistent member, the state a splendid citizen, the south, one of the most courageous and patriotic exponents that ever bore her standard, his friends a jovial companion, and his children a kind and loving father. Peace to his ashes.

Be sure and come and see these features, for they will be sure to please you. And remember that every day is a feature day at the Halcyon.

Call at the box office and get a program—then get the habit of going regular. Just as nice and cool—a place as you will find anywhere.

Rheumatism and the Heart

Don't overlook the fact that rheumatism easily "settles in the heart" and disturbs the valvular action. The cure consists in removing the cause. Foley Kidney Pills so tone up and strengthen the kidneys that they keep the blood free of poisons and uric acid crystals, that cause rheumatism, swollen joints, backache, urinary irregularities and disturbed heart action. Try them.

A BLACK THAT WOULDN'T COME OFF

One warm summer afternoon a fond mother wanted her little boy, and going to the back door she called, "Willie!" in a voice to beat the fire whistle.

Finally a little figure came slowly around the corner. It was mud from head to foot—black mud from the nearby hole that mother knew so well. "What in the world have you been doing to yourself?" asked the mother after vainly scrubbing for fully five minutes.

"That black mud sticks to your face like paint. Have you been painting your face to play Indian as well as wallowing in that hole?"

"Please, Missy Jones," wailed a small voice as she resumed her task, "ain't you ill' Willie! I've Mose, de ill' cull'd boy down in de nex' block."—National Monthly.

Last Will and Testament of C. W. Worley
Filed in office July 28th 1913
W. J. Milliken Ordinary

Georgia, Carroll County

I, Columbus W. Worley of said county and state being advanced in age and laboring under bodily affliction and knowing that I must shortly depart this life, deem it right and proper, both as respects myself and family, that I should make a disposition of this property that I am possessed with through inheritance and what I have myself.

Item First.

I am satisfied my burial will be conducted in a christian like manner as I owe no man an ill will and for the years I served as Deputy Sheriff on many occasions I have taken weapons off of prisoners and could have prosecuted for the offense but they having to answer one charge my conscience would not allow me to make another offense to the detriment of wife and children who would be the sufferers.

Item Second

I desire that I be buried with Masonic honors in which order I am an humble member and have been for 40 years and love Masonry with my whole heart.

Item Third

I desire the immediate payment of any burial expenses and just debts if any.
I don't owe a cent now don't expect to.
